

SCHOOL LEADERSHIP TRAINING

School Management

Although effective school leadership does not raise student learning directly, it does so indirectly by improving teaching quality and ensuring effective use of resources.

Ineffective school leadership means school management is not actively involved in helping teachers solve problems, does not provide instructional advice, and does not set goals that prioritize learning. School governance - particularly the decision-making autonomy of schools, along with the oversight provided by parents and communities—serves as the framework for seeking local solutions and being accountable for them.

Samples:

- The Foundations of Educational Leadership Course - The Foundations of Educational Leadership will introduce leaders to the concepts and principles of educational leadership. This course will provide learners with an overview of the roles of educational leaders and the impact of educational leadership on the society and educational system. This course will explore different theories and models on educational leadership and the impact to the individual, organization and society. It is a course that will challenge learners to reflect upon theory and practice and apply the principles, concepts and framework to real world situations.

- Leading Educational Change - The Leading Educational Change course will prepare educational leaders to effectively facilitate and guide the change effort in their organizations. Educational leaders must exercise the strategic art of leadership in response to changing educational needs facing communities today and in the future. This course will prepare educational leaders to properly and in a timely manner assess their impact of change on their vision and seek to School Management Course - The School Management Course addresses most of the key concepts and some of the management skills and approaches that participants will need in instructional leadership, pupil management, financial management, school-parents' relationship.

Course Director

Hakeem Subair - Founder & CEO, 1 Million Teachers Inc.; adjunct professor of Innovation and Change Management, and Artificial Intelligence and Entrepreneurship – St. Lawrence College, Canada.

Participation and Fee

Please contact us at admin@1millionteachers.com for details.